Price to play high school sports $500

Superintendent formulating pricing plan for homeschooled students

BY DAN HILDEBRAN
Dan@BcTelegraph.com

Union County Schools Superintendent Mike Ripplinger suggested that $500 is “the sweet spot” for charging the parents of homeschoolers who participate in Union County School District Sports.

Ripplinger added that some school districts are charging double that amount for homeschoolers playing football, volleyball, and other interscholastic sports.

The superintendent made those comments while briefing school board members on his meetings with other state education leaders about how districts are responding to Florida’s Personalized Education program, popularly known as PEP, which is prompting an exodus of public-school students throughout Florida.

Ripplinger said he is formulating a plan for charging homeschooling parents for their students joining Union County School District activities, clubs, and sports.

He added that homeschooled students in the state’s Personalized Education Program would not pay the district out-of-pocket for such activities.

Instead, the district would be listed as a vendor on a state internet portal, and parents wanting to send their students to a Union County School District activity would indicate that choice on the portal. The state would then allocate part of that student’s annual $8,500 PEP scholarship to the district.

Traditional homeschooling parents, however, who do not participate in PEP, would be required to pay out of pocket and would not be reimbursed.

The superintendent told board members during a July 8 workshop that the pay schemes vary widely from district to district, including the prices for sports.

“There were districts that just charged a thousand dollars no matter over $9,100 per student.

“So, when you break that down,” he said, “when you think of FTE or full-time equivalent, think of a pie with six different slices or so (for six class periods throughout the school day). So, if you divide that ($9,100) by six and then divide that by half because... the courses are done by semester, it would be $775 per course per semester, which again is a reimbursable expense for the parent.”

Ripplinger said that when looking what,” he told school board members. “If you played this sport, it was a thousand dollars. If you played another sport, it was a thousand dollars.”

Ripplinger also said classes at Union County public schools would be available to homeschooled students, adding the Florida Virtual School charges $375 for a virtual course, and the Union school district would likely charge a similar fee for virtual classes.

For brick-and-mortar classes, Ripplinger said he was favoring a price based on full-time equivalents, which for the coming year is a little at interscholastic sports, like football, basketball, and volleyball, his interest is in recovering the district’s cost of coaches’ supplements and other expenses, like equipment and uniforms.

The superintendent said he was leaning toward a $100 fee for clubs, like FFA or Beta Club.

Ripplinger told board members his work on the pricing plan is 90% to 95% complete, and he would be asking the board to approve the plan during its last meeting in July.

Water and sewer contract amendment triples revenue to Lake Butler

BY DAN HILDEBRAN
Dan@BcTelegraph.com

LakeButlerCityCommissioners approved an amendment to its contract with the Department of Corrections for water and sewer service that will triple the revenue the municipality receives from its largest customer and will fund an additional operator at the city’s wastewater treatment plant.

During a July 10 special commission meeting, officials approved the new deal for the state agency’s Reception and Medical Center, which is around a mile-and-a-half south of the city limits on County Road 231.

Under the prior agreement, the state paid a base rate of $20,500 a month for the first 6,750,000 gallons, and $2.80 per 1,000 gallons over the base allowance.

With the new amendment, FDC will pay $66,816 for the first 9.6 million gallons per month, and $6.96 for each 1,000-gallon unit above 9.6 million gallons.

City Finance Director Dave Mecusker told commissioners that the city has already adjusted its billing according to the updated rates. He added that while negotiations were underway in April, Lake Butler billed FDC $29,860 under the old agreement. In June, the city billed RMC under the amended terms for around $88,000.

“So, it went from $30,000 to almost $90,000, and it goes up (as RMC’s population increases),” the finance director said. “So, we have a very good and solid revenue flow in our wastewater, and the commission is to be commended for getting that contract agreed upon because it took heavy negotiations, and it took a long time to get to this point.”

Mayor Melissa Hendrix said the additional revenue will fund a wastewater operator position for the city. She added that when the municipality’s new wastewater plant becomes operational, staffing requirements will increase from one position to three.

Hendrix added that RMC uses 77% of the city’s water.

Twins in ATV crash, sister killed

BY DAN HILDEBRAN

An early Sunday crash claimed the life of a 30-year-old woman and left her twin brother with serious injuries.

Friends of the family identified the deceased woman as Dakota Thacker.

According to the Florida Highway Patrol, the ATV was traveling east on State Road 100 near State Road 26 around midnight when a car rear-ended the four-wheeler.

A passenger in the ATV, Dalton Thacker sustained serious injuries and was transported to a hospital.

A 17-year-old female in the other vehicle was not injured.

Gov.: Blanding could house more immigrants than RMC has inmates

BY DAN HILDEBRAN
Dan@BcTelegraph.com

Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis said the Camp Blanding Joint Training Center near Starke could house as many as 2,000 illegal immigrants, exceeding the capacity of the Department of Corrections’ Reception and Medical Center near Lake Butler by 500. RMC’s capacity is 1,503 inmates, while Union Correctional Institution in Raiford can house 2,172.

The governor’s forecast would also put Camp Blanding near the top of the nation’s immigrant detention centers in terms of capacity.

Now, the Adams County Detention Center in Natchez, Mississippi, holds approximately 2,000 detainees. However, Charlton County, Georgia, is in the process of expanding the Folkston ICE Processing Center with a projected capacity of 3,000. That facility is 75 miles north of Camp Blanding. In addition, the Sunshine State’s newest immigrant detention center in South Florida could equal the capacity of the Charlton County facility.

Earlier this month, DeSantis joined President Donald Trump for the opening of a detention center 50 miles west of Miami dubbed “Alligator Alcatraz.”

Both Trump and DeSantis emphasized the facility’s remoteness, situated in a swampy area surrounded by reptiles. The new center was built in eight days and features more than 200 security cameras, over 28,000 feet of barbed wire, and 400 security personnel. Officials said the South Florida center could hold 3,000 detainees.

The governor said the state is now selecting vendors for the Camp Blanding expansion.

He added that because Florida is the only state that requires all law enforcement to participate in immigration enforcement, the state accounts for between 15% and 20% of daily immigration arrests.

Blanding’s history as a detention site reaches back to 1942, when the camp served as a German prisoner of war camp.

One thousand POWs were housed within the post, and its leadership supervised an additional 3,000 German POWs in branch camps throughout Florida.

Teacher arrested for obscene photo to Bradford Middle School student

BY DAN HILDEBRAN
dan@bctelegraph.com

A former Bradford Middle School teacher turned himself in to Bradford deputies after a judge issued a warrant for his arrest.

Matthew Dawson Watson, 26, was arrested for obscene communication to a minor via a computer and an authority figure soliciting or engaging in a romantic relationship with a student. Both charges are felonies.

According to a warrant affidavit, School Protection Officer Tyler Oliver notified Bradford Detective Hayley Flynn about an alleged inappropriate relationship between Watson and a student in February.

A Florida Department of Children and Families investigator provided the Bradford detective with a statement submitted through DCF’s online portal describing the relationship.

The redacted affidavit indicates that the student and Watson engaged in several text and image exchanges on Snapchat and TikTok, culminating with Watson sending the victim a photo of his penis.

The victim reacted by telling Watson that she was getting uncomfortable, and Watson responded by writing that he was deleting all his social media profiles, except for Facebook.

“They never spoke online again,” Flynn wrote in the report.

The student also indicated that she had no relationship with Watson after the photo exchange “other than passing him in the hallway.”

UNION COUNTY

4-H teaches the art of homesteading

BY ANGELINA BOUDY AND MEGAN DANIEL
Union County 4-H

During the week of June 16, a three-day camp titled Jr. Homesteaders was held at the Union County Extension Office in collaboration with Lafayette County 4-H.

With a growing interest in self-sufficiency, the camp aimed to teach youth about the history of homesteading and how those practices continue today.

From gardening and beekeeping to cooking, woodworking, and raising animals, homesteading offers a unique way to connect with the outdoors and take greater control over what ingredients are used in food and household products.

Throughout the week, participants engaged in hands-on activities that brought the past to life—cooking their own meals, playing traditional games, and making candles and soap. The camp also included field trips to local establishments to explore the history of homesteading in Florida.

Homemade lunch,

checkers and 'Old Yeller'

To kick off the week, youth received an overview of homesteading's origins in the 1800s and learned about how cattle ranching helped shape farmsteads in both the American West and Florida. Campers then tried their hand at being homesteaders by preparing a homemade lunch that included creamed corn, green beans, jam, butter, and biscuits. This experience helped them appreciate the time and effort involved in home-cooked meals and the importance of knowing where their ingredients come from.

Because early homesteaders didn't have access to modern technology, campers also learned how children entertained themselves in the past. They played sack races, marbles, checkers, and chess—classic games that would have filled time on the homestead. Later that day, youth learned about the value of dairy cattle and goats as milk sources, then paired up to make homemade vanilla ice cream in a bag. They capped off the day by watching Old Yeller, gaining insight into daily life on a homestead.

Beef, bees and browsing the museum

On the second day, youth toured North Florida Custom Meats, where Jimmy Tallman shared a behind-the-scenes look at meat processing from start to finish. Campers observed each stage of the butchering process and learned about the importance of treating animals humanely before and during the slaughter process to produce high-quality meat.

Back at camp, participants then discovered the important role of bees in growing food and made rolled beeswax candles. They also created goat milk soap to take home. A highlight of the day also included watching chicks hatch from an incubator to learn more about how homesteaders raised poultry.

The second day of camp concluded with a visit to the Union County Historical Museum. Ms. Jean Brannen led a tour showcasing farm equipment, cooking tools, and household items once found on early homesteads. Youth also learned about the turpentine industry's significance in Florida during the late 1800s and early 1900s. They enjoyed browsing old photos and newspaper clippings highlighting 4-H's long history of teaching practical life skills such as animal care and showmanship.

Historic farm site, Poe Springs

To wrap up the week, campers visited Dudley Farm Historic State Park in Newberry, FL—a preserved 1880s-era farm and National Historic Landmark. Youth walked original paths that once connected Newberry, Archer, and Gainesville, used by ranchers to move cattle between towns. They explored the Dudley family's home, viewed antique kitchen tools and farm equipment, pumped water from a well, saw cracker cattle, and watched a blacksmith demonstration.

The final stop of the week was Poe Springs, where youth cooled off with a refreshing swim—just like homesteaders may have done after a hard day's work.

By the end of the week, participants not only learned about homesteading but also experienced what it was like to live as a homesteader.

Thank you to everyone who helped make this camp a success. Our 4-H'ers surely enjoyed their journey back in time and left with a new appreciation for homesteading and living off the land.

Kimber Williams, Atticus Allen, and Emerson Ogden are hand-pumping water from an old pitcher pump at the Dudley Farm Historic State Park in Newberry. Mr. Mark Harrison, Hudson Matts, Ella Griffis, Kylie Harrison, and Lola Allen are observing.

I'M A NEW CREATURE IN CHRIST, NOW WHAT?

In 2 Corinthians 5:17 the Bible says, "If any man (person) be in Christ they have become New Creatures or Creations, old things have passed away; behold all things have become new." Paul is talking about a person who has received Jesus Christ as their personal Lord and Savior. When you were born-again you did not get a new body, you will one day, but you still have the same body you had before you were born-again. You didn't get a new mind when you were born-again, you have the same mind you had before you were born-again. That is why the Bible tells us in Romans 12:2 "..... be not conformed to this world but be transformed by the renewing of your mind." Your mind was not born again but your spirit has been made brand new, you are a New Creation in Christ Jesus. So, according to the Bible the New Birth is the rebirth of the human spirit. In St. John 3:6, Jesus said "that which is born of the flesh is flesh and that which is born of the spirit is spirit."

We may not be able to tell immediately what has happened on the inside of a person when born-again, because it takes place in the human spirit. However, if a person walks in the light of what they have, it will become obvious in the process of time. Now, when a person is saved, born-again, that person should obey the Bible and be water baptized. Water baptism is a command but water baptism does not save you. Water baptism is actually a symbol or a public confession or testimony to oneself and others of what has already taken place on the inside.

In St. John 3:5, Jesus said, "...except a man be born of the water and of the spirit, he/she cannot enter into the Kingdom of God." Jesus is actually talking about the water of the New Birth. Jesus is not talking about water baptism. Jesus is talking about a person's spirit being recreated by the Holy Spirit. The water He is talking about in this verse is the water of the Word of God. I want to show you a few scriptures that will prove that to you and then you can get your Bible and study this for yourself. Ephesians 5:26 says, "that He might sanctify and it (the church) with the washing of the water by the Word." St. John 6:63 says, "It is the Spirit that quickens, the flesh profits nothing; the Words that speak to you are Spirit and they are life." "St. John 15:3 says, "You are already clean because of the Word I have spoken unto you." St. John 17:17 says, "Sanctify them by Your truth, Your Word is truth." 1 Peter 1:23 says, "Being Born-Again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the Word of God, which lives and abides forever." Now, the born-again child of God must believe the Word of God and begin to walk accordingly. Study God's Word and pray. Begin to walk and live in the spirit and be conformed to the Word of God as you receive light. Next week we will begin to look at the next steps we are to take to grow spiritually and become mature in Christ. Always remember, salvation in Christ is not the end, it is the beginning of a new life, eternal life with Jesus as our Lord and Saviour, a Spirit life. I encourage you to get in the flow and grow.
Blessings,
Pastor Rick

Dancing with purpose: KCDA celebrates 20 years with a bold new vision

In a world where only one in five small businesses make it to the 20-year mark, Kelly Christie Dance Academy has not only stood the test of time in Union County — it's flourished, grown and reimagined itself.

Having recently celebrated its 20th anniversary season, the beloved studio has rebranded as KCDA School of Musical Theater and Dance, ushering in a new era filled with expanded offerings, deepened community impact, and a continued legacy of excellence.

"Rebranding as KCDA School of Musical Theater and Dance reflects who we are today — a place where students can grow in every area of performance," said Kelly Christie. "We're not just teaching technique; we're shaping storytellers and confident individuals."

Founded in 2005 by Christie, an accomplished dancer, choreographer and teacher, the academy reflects her lifelong dedication to the arts. She began training in dance at an early age in classical ballet, jazz and lyrical styles. Her passion for movement and performance continued through college, where she pursued dance and theater coursework at the University of Florida while earning a master's degree in speech-language pathology. That dual expertise — artistic and academic — has shaped KCDA's unique blend of creative expression and personal development.

"I've always believed in the power of communication — whether it's through words or movement," said Christie. "Both help young people find their voice, build confidence, and express who they are."

For the past two decades, KCDA has provided dance

training in ballet, lyrical, contemporary, jazz and acrobatic dance. Christie has also choreographed many musical theater pieces for students and adults. In addition to running her studio, she served as choreographer/instructor of the Gainesville Christmas Festival for numerous years. This large-scale, vastly popular Broadway-type production reached an estimated audience of around 10,000 annually.

One of KCDA's long-standing strengths is its connection to the professional dance world. The academy regularly hosts masterclasses with professionals, who have danced with prestigious companies, performed in national and international tours, and appeared on Broadway.

"Our students get to learn directly from pros who've lived it," Christie said. "It's motivating and deeply enriching. We're very proud to have professionals as part of our team to offer students a first-hand look at the demands and rewards of a career in the performing arts."

Christie's commitment to artistic excellence and proper technique has provided a solid foundation for her students. Several alumni now have careers as professional dancers, others have been awarded college scholarships in dance, and still others have auditioned and been accepted in specialized programs and conservatories to further build their skills.

The academy's reach also extends beyond the studio and stage. Last month, the KCDA Global Impact Ministry Group completed its third international mission trip, traveling to Costa Rica to share the love of Christ through dance. Students performed, led workshops and engaged in community outreach, using movement as a powerful tool for connection and ministry.

"Our international service projects, as well as those in Florida and other states, and in our own community are always transformational for those we visit and for our students and their parents," Christie said. "They see how their art can make a real difference in people's lives."

As KCDA enters its third decade, it remains firmly rooted in its founding values: excellence in the arts, personal growth and a heart for service. "This rebrand isn't just a new name," Christie said. "It's a reflection of everything we've built and everything we're becoming. KCDA is more than a school — it's a home for creativity, faith and transformation."

To introduce its new musical theater program, the school is offering a summer workshop July 21-24, with age-appropriate classes in musical theater for students in second through 12th grades. Additionally, a ballet fundamentals class is available for prekindergarten through first grade students. Later this summer, open auditions for KCDA's winter production of "Don Quixote" will take place on Friday, Aug. 23, from 10 a.m. to noon. Roles are available for dancers, actors and extras, with opportunities for performers of various age and experience levels.

Energy conservation project rejected

BY MARK J. CRAWFORD
mark@bctelegraph.com

The Bradford County Commission decided not to move forward with the proposed energy conservation project or an RFP process involving Schneider Electric at their July 1 meeting.

After discussion and legal advice about procurement concerns, the commission reached a consensus to explore alternative, smaller-scale or in-house solutions for facility repairs and energy savings rather than pursuing the larger project with Schneider Electric. This will include finding ways to cut costs at the jail, which has the government's highest utility bill.

After months of work, Schneider Electric previously presented a project aimed at modernizing county facilities, reducing long-term energy costs, and leveraging federal incentives for renewable energy.

The project would have addressed deferred maintenance needs at key county buildings, including the courthouse and jail. The plan called for repairing and replacing aging roofs, upgrading lighting to energy-efficient LEDs, and installing solar panels to offset electricity costs.

The total project cost was $3.6 million, but with a large federal tax credit for solar installation and a $350,000 contribution from the county's ARPA funds, the net cost would be reduced to $2.45 million. Over 30 years, presenters projected the project would save the county $6 million, with a positive return on investment expected after 14 years.

Commissioners weren't ready to commit, and attorney Rich Komando raised issues about procurement, saying the way didn't the project was brought to the county did not conform with the idea of "piggybacking" off another county's contract, which required receiving the same product for the same cost. To properly consider a proposal, the county should advertise a request for proposals from all interested companies.

But rather than move forward with additional proposals, the consensus was to begin addressing deferred maintenance problems one at a time. Commissioner Carolyn Spooner wanted the county to continue looking at alternatives such as solar power generation, which could reduce the jail's light bill.

Schneider will be paid for its work delivering a plan to the board. The previously stated amount was $34,000.

Removing barriers to success

BY DAN HILDEBRAN
Dan@BcTelegraph.com

The director of the Community Partnership School at Keystone Heights High School spoke to a Lake Region civic club on July 9.

Isaac Morford told the Keystone Heights Rotary Club that his job is to remove barriers so students can succeed.

The Community Partnership School at the Orchid Avenue campus is one of 50 across Florida that aims to provide resources to economically disadvantaged students.

The four pillars of the partnership are wellness support, family and community engagement, expanded opportunities, and collaborative leadership.

The Children's Home Society, the oldest nonprofit organization in the state of Florida, leads the partnership school. Other participants are the Clay County School District, Aza Health, and Santa Fe College.

Morford held up the Community Partnership School in Jefferson County as an example of how partnerships, like the one he leads, can make a significant difference.

The state took over the poor-performing school district, with one school for K through 12th-grade students, a few years ago, and turned the district over to a charter school company.

Morford said that after one year, the charter school company gave up.

"And so, the community partnership school program was brought in two years later," he said. "And now they're an 'A' school. That's not saying it was the magic of the Community Partnership school, but it is saying that we are really focusing on the whole student, the whole community, the whole family, and we are seeing results statewide."

Morford said that one of the primary goals of his group this year was to increase attendance among students at Keystone Heights High School.

"We ended up getting up to 92% this year," he said. "That's a 3% increase. That's massive. When we're talking about students showing up at school, on average, that is every student in school showing up about five or six more days. That's pretty huge."

Morford said Camp Boost is another of the partnership's projects. The summer camp, which was going on at the time of Morford's talk, helps students transition from elementary school to junior high.

He added that 16 incoming seventh graders and three model students were at Camp Immokalee as he spoke.

The camp equips participants with coping tools, personal hygiene tips, social interaction skills, and other resources that help them get through high school.

"Today they're going to be getting a hygiene presentation on how to not be the smelly kid in class and how to take care of yourselves and set yourself up on the right foot," he said.

Morford said Camp Boost is now in its fourth year. He added that prior participants are outperforming their peers in attendance and other measurements.

Morford added that his organization is focusing on supporting students in math.

"Math's a difficult one because if you miss skills in elementary school, you need those skills, but it's not directly affecting the math homework that's due tomorrow, as far as the student sees it."

Morford said he is trying to help students catch up in math who have fallen behind.

McMinn told the officer that the victim was close to a garbage can and she intended the cucumbers to land in the trash.

Union students record improvements in Spring assessments

BY DAN HILDEBRAN
Dan@BcTelegraph.com

Lake Butler Elementary School, Lake Butler Middle School, and Union County High School all recorded advances in the state's Spring assessments.

Students in grades 3 through 10 took the state FAST reading assessment, while children in grades 3 through 8 took the math assessment.

In addition, middle and high school students took end-of-year assessments in Algebra I, Geometry, Science, Biology, U.S. History and Civics.

Reading: everybody up

Superintendent Mike Ripplinger said 60% of the district's third and fourth graders scored proficient in reading, an improvement from last year's 58%. Fifty-one percent of fifth through eighth-grade students were proficient, up from 48% last year.

More high school students made the proficiency cut this year, improving from 53% to 55%.

"Overall, the district increased from 51% to 54% students being proficient in grades 3 through 10 from 2024 to 2025," Ripplinger said.

A serious traffic crash occurred in Keystone Heights on Thursday, July 10th, at 1:18 PM.

A dump truck collided with a car, leaving the car damaged on all sides and causing oil to spill on the road from both vehicles. As a result, State Road 100 was closed in one direction for several hours.

According to Clay County Fire Rescue, one person was transported to the hospital with serious injuries. The cause of the accident is currently unknown.

In math, 75% of third and fourth-grade students scored at levels 3, 4, or 5, designating them as proficient. That is up from 65% the previous year.

"At LBMS, 59% of students in 5th through 8th grade were proficient as opposed to 61% last year," Ripplinger said. "Overall, the district increased from 60% to 64% students being proficient in grades 3 through 8 from 2024 to 2025."

Algebra- high school slips, but still above state average

The superintendent reported that 8th-grade Algebra I scores at the middle school increased from 86% in 2024 to 89% this year. At Union County High School, Algebra I students scored a 50% passing rate, which was down from last year's 56% but still higher than the state's 34% passing rate for the same grade-level students.

"Likewise," Ripplinger said, "the passing rate for Geometry this year at UCHS was 52%, while the state's average for the same grade-level students was 47% passing."

Science - considerable gains

In science, students at the middle and high schools scored gains in 5th, 8th, and 10th grades.

"LBMS 5th grade students saw an increase from 34% proficiency in 2024 to 41% proficiency in 2025," Ripplinger said. "Eighth grade nearly doubled its performance from last year's 29% proficiency to 56% this year, beating the state average of 49%."

The high school gained in biology with end-of-course scores, earning a 78% proficiency rate, eclipsing last year's 75% proficiency and surpassing the state average of 64%.

Civics and History - middle school holds, high school improves

This year, the students in 7th-grade Civics at LBMS held steady at 75% proficiency, which was the same mark as last year, while still outpacing the state average of 71%. Students who took the U.S. History end-of-course exam at UCHS rose from last year's 75% success rate to 81% this year, exceeding the state average of 71%.

Team effort

Ripplinger credited a team effort of students, teachers, parents, and administrators with the improvements in the Spring assessment.

"The dedication and countless hours of preparation by teachers and administrators, in addition to the support of parents and the efforts by the students, are the key reasons for the successes enjoyed during the 2024-2025 school year," he said.

Melrose left one person in critical condition and shut down portions of State Road 26.

The Melrose Fire Department reported a single-vehicle accident in which the driver likely experienced a medical emergency before crashing into a home.

The patient was transported to a trauma center by rescue personnel.

The accident occurred at approximately 10:14 a.m. on Tuesday, July 8, in Alachua County.

Christine Clardy, 64, of Keystone Heights, was arrested by Clay deputies on July 10 for battery on a person 65 years or older and resisting an officer without violence.

According to an arrest report, the victim told deputies that Clardy had consumed half of a bottle of tequila throughout the day and had injured him.

The heavily redacted arrest report also referred to a knife, and Deputy David Justice reported that he observed a "freshly bleeding skin tear" on the victim's left forearm.

"When I advised the defendant she was being placed under arrest," wrote Justice, "she resisted my attempts to take her into custody. She sat down inside her vehicle in the driveway, where her interview was conducted, and stated (redacted). The defendant had to be physically picked up out of the passenger seat where she was sitting and removed from the vehicle."

Justice claimed Clardy resisted his attempts to handcuff her.

Jordan Saylor, 33, of Palatka, was arrested by Clay deputies on July 6 for an out-of-county warrant and possession of a controlled substance without a prescription. According to an arrest report, the defendant's ex-girlfriend told deputies Saylor had been threatening her. She also informed officers of the 33-year-old's whereabouts and told him he had an outstanding arrest warrant.

According to Deputy Oliver Castillo, two deputies knocked on the front door of the residence where the defendant was staying. When Saylor ran out of the back door, Castillo detained him.

A search of the defendant during the arrest yielded 0.59 grams of methamphetamine within a cigarette box in one of Saylor's pockets.

Jeremiah Tarver, 31, of Keystone Heights, was arrested by Clay deputies on July 8 for being a fugitive from justice.

A look back: UCHS wins state titles in 1995, 2005

BY CLIFF SMELLEY
cliff@bctelegraph.com

With it being 2025, the Telegraph-Times-Monitor presents a look back at Union County High School sports highlights in years ending in "5."

The following are teams/individuals who won state championships or finished as state runners-up at the state level. Please note that the years in question included numerous other state-level participants as well as highlights at the district and regional levels.

Any omission of a state champ/runner-up is inadvertent.

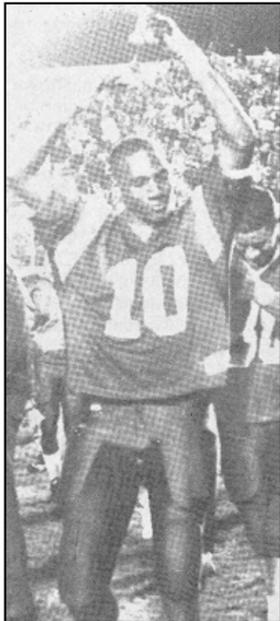

UCHS repeats as football champ in '95

Union's 1995 football season appeared remarkably similar to the 1994 season in which the Tigers won their first-ever state championship. In 1994, the Tigers won their four postseason games by an average score of 37-15. In 1995, the average score was 36-14.

Union defeated LaBelle in the 1995 state-championship game, with LaBelle's field goal on the final play of the first half preventing the Tigers from winning by another shutout after defeating Bishop Verot 21-0 in 1994. Still, it was another big win, with UCHS defeating LaBelle 28-3.

The Tigers, who had their first perfect regular season since 1974, had quite an opportunistic defense in 1995, recording 17 turnovers in the postseason.

Union's postseason run looked as if it was going to begin with a barn burner. The Tigers played Newberry and found themselves in a 14-14 battle after one quarter the second half on touchdown runs of 14 and 15 yards, respectively. Adrian Weeks scored on a 36-yard pick-six.

The Tigers came up with three interceptions in all.

Matt Ward successfully kicked the extra point after each score. (He went 18 for 18 in the Tigers' four postseason games.)

Zow completed eight of 13 passes for 211 yards, with Chris Stalnaker catching three passes for 88 yards.

The Tigers were outgained in their second-round matchup (323 yards to 303), but their defense rose to the occasion when it had to, creating turnovers on three drives in Union territory to help them defeat Jefferson County 28-12.

Antonio Jonas and Sean Warren had interceptions to end two promising Jefferson County drives, while Gerard Warren recovered a fumble, which was the result of a Weeks sack, to end another potential scoring drive.

The defense also got two interceptions from Dexter Edwards.

Zow rushed for 74 yards on four carries, scoring touchdowns on runs of 7 and 65 yards. He also completed four of eight passes for 66 yards, throwing a 28-yard touchdown pass to Hampton.

Alexander had a score on a 4-yard run.

Myers rushed for 87 yards on 17 carries and caught two passes for 32 yards.

Up next for the Tigers was a state semifinal game against the team that almost tripped them up in 1994. This year, however, Union scored the first 21 points and defeated Baker 30-13.

It was a quick start for the Tigers, with Sean Warren being a big reason for it. First, Warren scored on a 61-yard pass play from Zow. He then intercepted passes on Baker's next two possessions. Union scored following each turnover, getting a 1-yard touchdown run from Gerard Warren and a 5-yard touchdown reception by Myers.

Zow added a 2-yard touchdown run, which was set up by Hampton's 92-yard kickoff return, while Alphonso Griffin and Gerard Warren teamed up for a sack in the end zone for a safety.

Myers rushed for 158 yards on 19 carries.

Zow completed just three of 11 passes, but those completions were good for a total of 86 yards.

Union earned the right to play for another state championship, this time against LaBelle. The Tigers created five turnovers defensively and got three touchdowns from Hampton in a 28-3 win.

Punt returns of 58 and 21 yards by Alexander led to touchdowns in the second quarter. One came off a 3-yard Sean Warren run, while the other was the result of a 34-yard pass from Zow to Hampton.

LaBelle scored its only points — a 43-yard field goal — on the final play of the first half.

All five LaBelle turnovers occurred in the second half. A Sean Warren interception eventually led to Hampton's 3-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter that put the Tigers ahead 20-3, while a fumble recovery by Griffin led to Hampton's 5-yard touchdown run. Alexander's pass to Edwards on a two-point play capped the scoring.

Curtis Perry had a fumble recovery as well for Union, which also got interceptions by Zow and David Bennefield.

Zow completed six of 13 passes for 115 yards. Hampton caught one pass for 34 yards, while Stalnaker caught one for 30 yards.

Myers rushed for 70 yards on 13 carries, while Hampton had 63 yards on 12 carries.

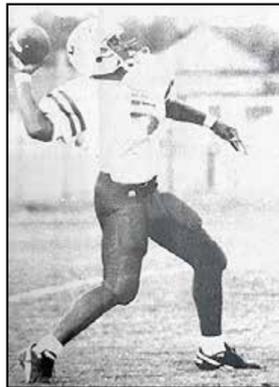

The win capped a 14-0 season. Those wins were part of an eventual 26-game win streak (a state record at the time) as Union would go on to win a third state championship in 1996.

It may have appeared to be anybody's ball game, but it was all Tigers after the opening quarter as Union outscored Newberry 42-12 to win 56-26.

Ben Myers and Sean Warren had touchdown runs of 18 and 5 yards, respectively, in the first quarter. A three-touchdown second quarter saw Bennie Alexander score twice — first on a 9-yard run, and then again on a 36-yard pass from Andrew Zow. Myers also had a 3-yard touchdown run in the quarter.

Alexander and Patrick Hampton, who rushed for 107 yards on nine carries, scored in

What to do about bears in unexpected areas

Spring and early summer mark a general increase in activity for Florida's black bears after limited movements in winter. During this time, juvenile bears could be spotted in unexpected areas as they leave their mothers' home ranges.

The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission shares this annual reminder that the best thing to do if you see a bear — whether in an unusual spot or not — is to give it plenty of space and never approach or feed it.

"Juvenile or yearling bears (between the ages of 1.5 and 2.5) disperse from their mothers' home ranges in spring and summer," said FWC Bear Management Program Coordinator Mike Orlando. "Yearlings can sometimes temporarily find themselves in places people wouldn't expect to see bears as they pass through in search of new areas of their own to settle down. As long as people keep their distance, these bears typically move along on their own."

Bear sightings tend to increase this time of year in suburban and urban areas, including in cities like Jacksonville, Orlando, Tampa and other more-highly populated areas around the state.

Seeing a bear in a neighborhood is not necessarily cause for alarm, but it is important that people give it space and secure food attractants so that bears do not linger in the area. Feeding bears can make them lose their natural fear of people. It is illegal in Florida to intentionally feed bears or leave out food or garbage that will attract bears.

Black bears are not generally aggressive, but like any wild animal, if they feel threatened, they can become defensive. Dogs have been involved in over half of the incidents of people getting injured by bears in Florida. When walking dogs, keep them close to you — ideally on a non-retractable leash — and be aware of your surroundings, which is good practice for preventing conflicts with any wildlife. Before letting your dog out at night in your yard, flip lights on and off and bang on the door to give bears and other wildlife a chance to leave the area.

As bears become more active this time of year, they cross more roadways. For your own safety and to avoid hitting bears and other wildlife, remember to slow down when driving, particularly on rural highways at dawn or dusk. Watch for road signs identifying bear crossing areas. Each year in Florida, an average of 300 bears are killed after being hit by vehicles.

The following are teams/individuals who won state championships or finished as state runners-up at the state level. Please note that the years in question included numerous other state-level participants as well as highlights at the district and regional levels.

Any omission of a state champ/runner-up is inadvertent.

Tornadoes win boys track, field title in '55

A decade before Bradford won the first of two consecutive state championships in football, the Tornadoes proved to be the state's best in track and field, winning the Class A title in 1955.

Bradford, which had two individual champions in Bill

Moore and Townsend Strickland, was in third place in the team standings entering the mile relay. The fourth-place time of 3:34.7 run by Moore, Bobby Ferguson, Robert Humphries and Clifford Martin gave the Tornadoes the points they needed to move past defending state champ Neptune Beach and Bishop Kenny and claim the overall state title. Bradford's team score was 26 — one point ahead of Fletcher and Alfred I. duPont.

The top four finishers in the mile relay (DeLand, duPont, North Miami and Bradford) all had times that surpassed the previous state record, which was 3:35.

Moore won the 440-yard run with a time of 51.5 seconds, while Strickland won the 180-yard low hurdles with a time of 21.1 seconds and also finished as runner-up in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles.

Bradford also had individual runners-up in Humphries (pole vault) and Stanley Clark (high jump).

The Tornadoes, who were coached by J.C. Hobbs, won the team district championship prior to state, posting a team score of 72 to runner-up Palatka's 67.5.

To qualify for state, individuals/relay teams had to place in the top three.

Strickland won the championships in both hurdle events with times of 16.6 and 22.2, while Ferguson crossed the line first in the 100-yard dash with a time of 10.6

Humphries won the pole vault by clearing 11-1.5, while Clark topped the shot-put field with a distance of 43 feet, 11 inches.

Bradford had three individual runners-up: Clark in the high jump, Moore in the 440 and Don Slade (tie) in the pole vault.

The half-mile and mile relay teams each placed second as well.

Arthur Locke and Wayne Wooten were third in the shot put and broad jump, respectively.

BHS takes Class A

Shameka Walker won state in the 800m in 1995.

football crown in '65

The Tornadoes won the first of two consecutive football state championships under Head Coach David Hurse in 1965, getting strong performances offensively and defensively in defeating Wauchula Hardee 39-0 in the Class A title game, capping a 12-0 season in which Bradford outscored opponents 337-46.

Bradford shut out five opponents during the 10-game regular season and gave up more than seven points against just one opponent (New Smyrna in a 51-14 win).

The playoffs consisted of only a state-semifinal round and then the championship game. The Tornadoes got two touchdown runs from quarterback Donnie Falcon in defeating Auburndale 14-0 in the state semifinals.

A Jim Godwin fumble recovery set up the first score. Mickey Agner had runs of 8, 12 and 15 yards before Falcon scored on a 7-yard run.

Falcon's 8-yard touchdown run in the second quarter was set up by his own 13-yard run.

Auburndale cut into the lead in the third quarter after intercepting a pass and returning it 26 yards to the Bradford 9-yard line. Auburndale later threatened to score again before the Tornadoes' Leaton Morgan had an interception.

In all, Bradford's defense created four turnovers.

In the 39-0 win that captured the state-championship trophy, the Tornadoes' defense recovered three fumbles and held Hardee to minus-3 yards of offense in the first half.

While Hardee was struggling offensively in the first half, with just nine plays from scrimmage, the Tornadoes scored three touchdowns. Bradford later equaled that touchdown output in the game's final 10 minutes.

Agner led a ground attack that amassed 245 yards. He had 15 carries for 83 yards.

Falcon, who added 65 rushing yards on 10 carries, completed 15 of 21 passes for 226 yards and three touchdowns. He also had a touchdown run.

Falcon's favorite target was tight end Eddie Douglas, who caught seven passes for 112 yards and two touchdowns.

Agner put the first score on the board when he bulled his way into the end zone from 10 yards out, capping a six-play, 46-yard drive.

The next two scores came on Douglas' touchdown receptions. The first covered 10 yards, while the second was off a 29-yard catch.

Douglas' second scoring catch ended a 74-yard drive on which he caught a total of three passes for 66 yards.

Hardee threatened to score in the third quarter, driving to the Bradford 11 before the Tornadoes rose to the challenge defensively and made a stop.

Annice Williams won the state title in the 1600m in 1995.

16-yard scoring run by David Shannon.

Crews lifts way to state title in 1975

Mike Crews, a junior, won a state championship for Bradford in weightlifting in 1975, placing first in the 148.75-pound class with a state-record 510-pound total. Crews had a 265 bench press and a 245 clean and jerk. The clean-and-jerk total broke Brad Carter's BHS record by 5 pounds.

Bradford is football runner-up in 1985

Bradford's 1985 football team put together an undefeated regular season for the first time since 1966 and also made it to the state-championship game for the first time since 1966 as well. The Tornadoes, though, couldn't add another state title to the ones won in 1965 and 1966, losing 28-20 to Bartow in the Class 3A finale.

The Tornadoes shut out six opponents during the regular season and won those 10 games by a combined score of 272-36.

Bradford's first-round playoff opponent was Citrus, a team it had beaten 18-0 during the regular season. This time, the contest went into overtime, with the Tornadoes winning 14-7 on a 10-yard touchdown reception by Andy Jones.

A 16-6 win over Godby put Bradford into the state-championship game against Bartow. The Tornadoes had missed scoring opportunities in the 28-20 loss, coming away empty on two drives inside the Bartow 10-yard line.

The Tornadoes struck first, receiving the opening kickoff and driving 70 yards on seven plays. Jones' 13-yard touchdown run capped the drive, putting Bradford up 7-0.

Bartow countered with a 71-yard drive that culminated in an 11-yard touchdown run that evened the score.

Another long drive by the Tornadoes followed, with Jones scoring on an 8-yard run. The six-play, 75-yard drive put Bradford up 13-7.

Bartow took the lead for good on a 44-yard touchdown pass and successful extra point.

The Tornadoes recovered a fumble at the Bartow 27-yard line. Jones lost 3 yards on a rushing attempt, but Mike Chappell came back with a 20-yard reception for a first-and-goal at the 10. A run for no gain and two incomplete passes forced Bradford to settle for a field-goal attempt, which was no good.

Bartow went up 21-13 on a 21-yard pass play. The Tornadoes threatened to close the gap on a 66-yard drive that took them to the Bartow 10, but the result was another missed field goal.

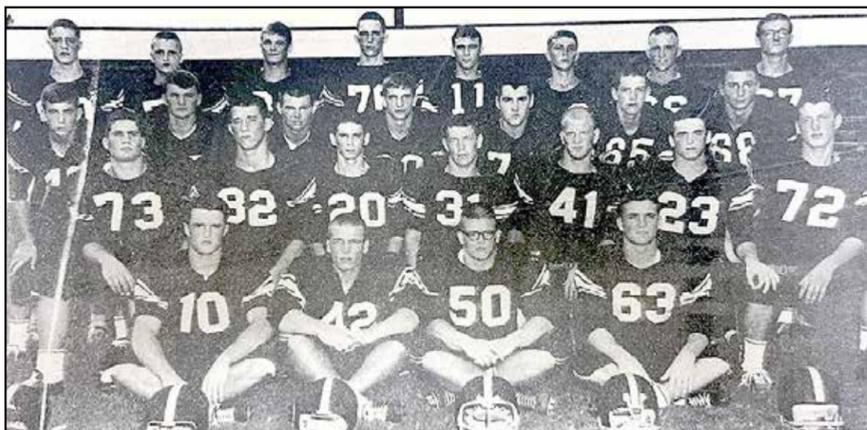

Bradford fell behind 28-13 when Bartow scored on a 66-yard pass.

The Tornadoes' Frank Long threw a long touchdown pass himself, connecting with Todd McLeod on a 53-yard play that made it an eight-point game.

Bradford's Aaron Matthews recovered a fumble with 3:51 to play, but the Tornadoes were unable to cash in.

The Tornadoes finished the year 12-1, outscoring opponents 322-77.

Long wins state, Sapp is a runner-up

for BHS in 1985

Lisa Long put her name in the Bradford High School record books, becoming the first female student-athlete to win a state championship. She did so in 1985 by winning the shot put in Class 2A with a distance of 38 feet, 3 inches.

Long qualified for state off a district-championship performance of 35-1.5.

Bradford almost had two state champs, with Long's teammate Lori Sapp finishing as the runner-up in the mile run with a time of 5:17. That left her trailing Cocoa Beach's Stacey Matschner, who had a time of 5:16.7.

Sapp won the district championship with a time of 5:28.82.

Girls hoops team wins '95 state title

Bradford was ready to win it all in girls basketball in 1995. The Tornadoes entered the season having won four straight district titles. Head Coach Harvey Lofton said it'd be a disappointment if Bradford didn't win state.

The Tornadoes weren't disappointed. They won another district title and then won five postseason games, ending with a 61-59 win over Quincy Shanks to win the Class 4A state title.

After winning two district-tournament games by margins of 50 and 35 points, Bradford defeated Lecanto 66-47 in a sub-regional game. The Tornadoes led by five at halftime, but opened the third quarter with a 10-2 run and took a 14-point lead into the fourth quarter.

Tonika Bright and Charlotte Griffin scored 16 and 13 points, respectively, while Temika Hampton and Nikki Jackson each scored 10. Shameka Walker added eight points, while Bradford also got six points from Marlena Lewis, two from Keisha Austin and one from Catrice White.

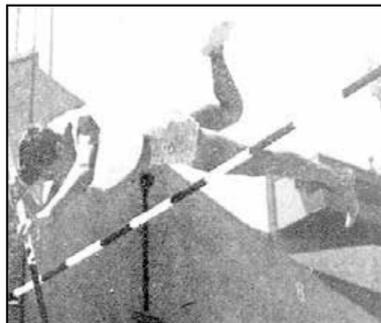

Bradford got off to a fast start against Hernando in the regional semifinals, holding an 18-6 lead after the first quarter and going on to win 55-46. The Tornadoes made 5 of 6 free throws in the fourth quarter to close it out.

Bright and White scored 18 and 11 points, respectively, with Bright also leading the team in rebounds with 12. Griffin had nine points, while the following also scored: Walker (5), Hampton (4), Jackson (4), Austin (2) and Lewis (2).

In the regional finals, the Tornadoes made six three-pointers in the first quarter and took a 26-14 lead against Lakewood before going on to win 62-51.

Again, Bradford was clutch at the foul line in the fourth quarter, making 12 of 14 free throws.

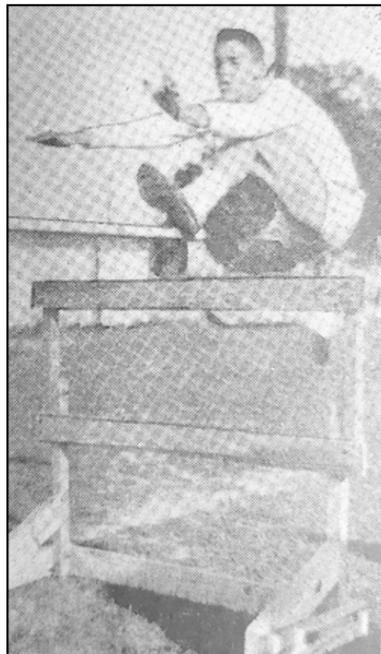

Bright and Griffin led the Tornadoes with 20 and 19 points, Robert Humphries was the state runner-up in the pole vault.

Annice Williams won the state title in the 1600m in 1995. It was her second straight state championship in the event. She'd go on to win it a third time in 1996.

Townsend Strickland won the state championship in the 180-yard hurdles.

respectively. Bright also had 18 rebounds.

Jackson added six points, followed by Lewis with five, Austin and White with four each, Hampton with three and Walker with one.

Bradford advanced to the state semifinals, overcoming Bright's first-half foul trouble an eight-point halftime deficit to defeat Orlando Jones 70-61.

Jones' Andrea Gaines scored 20 first-half points, but she was held to five in the second half.

Austin and Griffin scored six and five points, respectively, to help the Tornadoes take a 63-59 lead with 1:57 remaining. Bradford then made 5 of 6 free throws, with Jackson going 4 of 4.

Issue Date: July 8, 2025
 Response Due Date: July 28, 2025
 Project Location: Keystone Heights, Florida
 Project Site: 555 S Lawrence Blvd. Keystone Heights, FL 32656

1. Project Overview - The City of Keystone Heights is soliciting sealed proposals from qualified contractors for the demo existing battery of two tennis courts and rebuild, measuring 110 feet by 120 feet (13,200 square feet).

2. Scope of Work - The awarded contractor shall provide all labor, materials, tools, and equipment necessary to complete the following scope:

Mobilization - Transport and prepare all equipment, materials, and personnel to and from the job site.

Demolition - Removal and disposal of existing courts (110x120') asphalt tennis courts. Remove existing fence around perimeter.

Demo of existing light poles
Base Course - A base course of lime rock having an average thickness of 6" shall be placed on the subgrade and properly graded and compacted following a 1" in 10' slope. Base will be rolled and laser graded.

Asphalt - A one and one-half (1 1/2) inch thick surface course of S3 hot-mix asphalt (Type III) shall be placed over the base course. (The paved area will be several inches larger than the finished asphalt dimensions so that all sides of the courts can be sawed to straight and square edges with an asphalt saw.)

Saw Cut - Courts will be saw cut along perimeter to have clean cut edge.

Equipment - Two (2) sets of standard, external wind 3" O.D. tennis post sleeves will be installed in concrete. Provide and install two (2) sets of tennis net posts and two (2) tennis nets installed.

Prep - Scrape the court's surface of all dirt, debris, and loose material. Sanding - Machine sand the surface of court as necessary to smooth and repair any uneven areas.

Bird Baths - Apply outdoor court grade patching materials to all patch areas to bring each area flush with surrounding asphalt.

Patching - Using outdoor grade compounds:

One application will be made to each "birdbath". This will reduce water depth for faster drying times but may not eliminate all water ponding. Cover and fill any rough areas of asphalt. The edges of all patches will be scraped or ground smooth so that patches are not visible through the finished surface. Light sanding on edges to smooth down.

Leveling Course - Apply two coats of sand-acrylic resurfacer mix over the entire surface of the courts with a broad squeegee according to manufacturer's recommended coverage rates.

Texture and Finish Courses - Apply two successive coats of outdoor court grade filler coat (sand-filled acrylic color coating) to the entire area of the courts with a broad squeegee according to manufacturer's recommended coverage rates according to specifications.

Finished colors - Owners choice of any two manufacturer's standard colors.

Lines - Paint two(2) sets of regulation two-inch white playing lines for tennis courts.

Bradford Telegraph: covering the news since 1879

BY CLIFF SMELLEY
 cliff@bctelegraph.com

Rutherford B. Hayes was serving as the nation's 19th president, with William A. Wheeler occupying the role of vice president.

The constitution of California was ratified.

Frank Woolworth opened his first store in Utica, New York.

Milk was sold in glass bottles for the first time.

New York City's Gilmore's Garden was renamed Madison Square Garden.

Thomas Edison tests the first practical light bulb, which lasts 13.5 hours before burning out. He then demonstrates incandescent lighting to the public for the first time in Menlo Park, New Jersey.

Notable births include Albert Einstein and Will Rogers.

The year was 1879, which also included the publication of the first issue of the Florida Telegraph, which would later undergo several name changes in becoming the Bradford County Telegraph.

Bradford County's weekly newspaper has never missed a publication date since, evolving along with other newspapers in terms of style, content and equipment.

Surprisingly, what hasn't changed much is ownership. Eight individuals — individually and as partners — have owned the paper. Two men — Eugene S. Matthews (who began with a partner) and then his son, Eugene L. Matthews — ran the paper for a combined 80 years, while Eugene L. Matthews' son-in-law John Miller has been the owner for 52 years, with the first 20 of those years as co-owner along with Matthews' son-in-law Bobby Ferguson.

Eugene S. Matthews (pictured) and Ben J. Farmer bought the Telegraph in 1893. Matthews became sole owner in 1898 and continued to run the paper until it was bought by his son, Eugene L. Matthews, in 1933.

Eugene L. Matthews bought the Telegraph in 1933, taking over ownership from his father, Eugene S. Matthews. The younger Matthews owned the paper for 40 years.

The beginning

It started with William Moore, who supposedly visited Starke and witnessed the type of growth he felt would support a newspaper. A special centennial issue of the Telegraph described how Moore "observed how the huge, virgin pines were falling all around Starke to make room for fields and homes and saw the budding business activity along Call Street."

Moore, who had published and edited newspapers in Jacksonville, Lake City, Cedar Key and Pensacola, was just shy of 50 years old when he moved his family to Starke. On July 26, 1879, at a locale east of the railroad tracks on Call Street, the first issue of what was then known as the Florida Telegraph was published, with Moore acting as publisher and his son, Sterling, acting as editor.

The newspaper, which was renamed the Starke Telegraph a few years later, proved to be successful. Its office was moved into the second story of a building owned by J.G. Alvarez at the southeast corner of Call and Walnut streets, which is where the North Florida Regional Chamber of Commerce is today.

Sterling Moore purchased the paper from his father in 1885 for $500 in cash and a $500 promissory note that was to be paid in one year's time. The younger Moore's time of ownership was brief, however.

I.C. Webb, a former teacher, who had purchased property on Kingsley Lake, became a partner, with the masthead of the Jan. 8, 1887, issue bearing the names of Moore and Webb as publishers. In April of that same year, Webb bought out Moore's interest.

Webb made the final name change approximately a year later, announcing in the April

Jones. Jones operated a store on the ground floor.

Webb continued operating the paper for the next six years, during which time he let it be known that he might be induced to sell it. Col. W.T. Weeks, a longtime clerk of the circuit court in Bradford County, wrote to an old friend to let him know the newspaper might be for sale. That friend was Eugene S. Matthews.

Telegraph welcomes 2nd father-son duo

Matthews, who grew up in Providence when that area was still part of Bradford County, bought the Telegraph in 1893, serving as owner/publisher for 40 years. His newspaper experience began at the age of 10 when he was a printer's devil (an apprentice who performed various tasks) at the Gainesville Daily Bee, where he learned to set type by hand. He worked

Post-accident life all about moving forward for Trull

BY CLIFF SMELLEY
cliff@bctelegraph.com

To those who don't know him or know of his story, watching Ryder Trull stepping into the batter's box or taking to the pitcher's mound is simply watching a young person play a game he loves.

It's more than that, though. Much more.

In late August 2024, Trull was lying in a hospital under heavy sedation and on a ventilator. The question at that time wasn't, "When will he suit up again and play ball?" It was, "Will he survive?"

"It's a complete miracle that he's doing what he's doing right now and doing it as well as he's doing it," said Ryder's mother, Casey.

He sustained a brain injury and received facial fractures from being in a vehicular crash, but has recovered from everything except an injury to his left eye, which he now has no vision in.

Through it all, Trull's mantra has been to keep looking forward. Yes, he was in a bad crash, and yes, he could've died, but that's all in the past.

Casey said Ryder has always been determined. What he determined when he was in the hospital was that he was going to get back out onto the baseball diamond.

"I was ready to get out of the bed," said Ryder, a rising sophomore at Keystone Heights High School. "Honestly, the whole time I was just thinking about baseball. Baseball was the only thought on my mind. I was ready to play baseball."

It's also more than that. Ryder fully acknowledges that his survival and recovery goes beyond what doctors did.

"It shows that God brought me

Ryder Trull is approaching the one-year mark of an accident that almost claimed his life. The loss of vision in his left eye is the only lingering effect, but he hasn't let that stop him from living his life to the fullest, which includes playing baseball.

back for a reason," Ryder said.

Ryder had many people praying to God on his behalf — family, friends and people the family didn't even know, Casey said.

"It really helped us to keep going," Casey said. "People who came up and prayed — that really comforts you and kind of gives you a peace about things and what's going on."

Ryder said, "I thought it was cool. It just showed how much people cared."

A difficult time

Casey and her husband, Bryan, found themselves in a position no parent wants to be in — hearing a child was injured and in the hospital.

It wasn't just Ryder. His sister, Bryanna, was involved as well. However, Casey and Bryan were told that it seemed she would be OK, with doctors monitoring her for a concussion and its effects. "Then they told us what was going on with (Ryder) — the brain, the bleeding and swelling," Casey said. "Honestly, it just seemed like a whirlwind. Almost a blank"

Doctors were covering a lot of ground with the parents, who found all the information difficult to process. Fortunately, Casey and Bryan had friends who worked at the hospital, who acted as sort of a go-between.

"They were able to kind of translate what was going on and help us and kind of talk to the doctors a little better than we could because they knew the process and knew how to tell us, 'OK. This is what is happening. This is what you need to expect and what you need to do.'"

"That was a blessing." While that helped, seeing Ryder lying in a bed and not moving was, of course, difficult.

"He's always been energetic, going from nothing to 90," Casey said. "He couldn't do that. He couldn't do anything."

For someone used to going 90 miles per hour, his recovery and rehabilitation took too long for his liking.

"I hated going slow, but I had to," Ryder said.

Coming off the ventilator, being weaned off medications and moving were all things that took time. Casey said God was thanked for each small step forward.

"Every little thing was a big deal," Casey said, alluding to such things as the first time Ryder sat up in bed, the first time he got out of bed and stood and the first time he walked.

Casey said Ryder was in the hospital approximately two weeks before he began walking. "Before you knew it, he was trying to shove doctors out of the way, saying he could do it on his own," Casey said.

Ryder, who was in the hospital from Aug. 27 until Sept. 17, needed only one surgery, which reconstructed his left eye socket. When he was told he was going to lose the sight in the eye, Ryder said he accepted that it was just something he'd have to get used to.

"It's not that bad when you think about it," he said. "I'm used to it now, so it kind of feels like I have two eyes. I don't know how to explain it."

If you talk to Ryder, you get the sense he's taken everything in stride and that it doesn't bother him much. He does admit it was difficult to adjust to having sight in just one eye, but in the same breath, he says a positive came out of it in that he's become a better hitter in baseball.

"It kind of taught me to keep my head down, or I wasn't going to hit the ball," Ryder said.

Casey said, "He hasn't been aggravated or mad or down in the dumps or anything like that. He's always so positive."

Returning to normal life and baseball

A hospitalization followed by rehab had Ryder behind in his studies. He said he didn't do anything for a month after his return home — other than throw a baseball around with his father — but then it was time to devote time to school. His first two semesters of the 2024-25 year were done at home.

Despite having to catch up that first semester, he wound up with a 3.0 GPA.

"He did really well," Casey said. "The teachers were great working with him."

Ryder returned to the KHHS campus to start the third semester. He noted he had a 3.5 GPA that semester, which he maintained throughout the rest of the year.

"It was good," Casey, a teacher at KHHS, said of seeing her son back on campus. "I work up there, so I could see him."

Of course, his friends and fellow students wanted to talk to him about all that he had gone through. Ryder said his thought was always, "Dude, it's over. Just let me play some baseball now."

Baseball. It's the one thing he's always looked forward to. In the hospital, in rehab — playing the sport he began when he was probably 3 years old has kept him going.

It was approximately two months after he returned home that he began playing again, though he and his father would go to the fields every night before that. "I kept telling him, 'I'm so ready to play.' He said, 'Not yet.' After a little while, he started seeing the growth, that I was starting to get back into it," Ryder said.

A thrill for Dad, for sure, but he was just happy his son was still alive. Ryder said his father told him it didn't matter if he was never able to play baseball or any sport again. Ryder's response? "I'm playing baseball. I don't care."

When he first resumed playing, he didn't play in the field. He batted only.

"It was kind of stressful because I wasn't hitting the ball like I usually do," Ryder said. "I wasn't striking out a crazy

Griffin scored 19 points, while Bright, who picked up four fouls in the first half, finished with 13. Lewis scored 10 points, followed by Jackson with eight, Hampton and White with seven each and Austin with six.

The state-championship game went into overtime, with Bradford scoring opening the extra period with an 8-2 run en route to defeating Shanks 61-59 to win the title.

Bradford trailed for most of the second half, but a basket by Austin with 23 seconds remaining gave the Tornadoes the lead. A basket by Shanks with seven seconds remaining forced overtime.

It was 61-59 in favor of Bradford with seven seconds left in overtime. Bright missed the front end of a one-and-one opportunity at the foul line, with Shanks grabbing the rebound and having a chance to win or tie and force another overtime. Jackson, though, came away with a steal for the Tornadoes, sealing the win.

Bright, the co-MVP of the state tournament, poured in 22 points, while Lewis had 10 points and 12 rebounds.

Griffin and Hampton, who scored nine and eight points, respectively, and joined Bright on the all-tournament team.

Bradford also got four points from Jackson.

Walker, Williams run to state titles in 1995

Bradford celebrated two individual state championships in track and field in 1995, with Shameka Walker and Annice Williams winning the Class 4A titles in the 800m and 1600m, respectively.

It was a repeat performance for Williams. She placed first at state in the 1600m as a sophomore competing in the Class 3A finals in 1994 and went on to capture a third straight title at the Class 4A finals in 1996.

Williams also won the Class 4A state championship in cross country in 1994.

In 1995, Williams won a district title in the 1600m with a time of 5:42. She then ran 5:18.03 to place first at the regional level and went on to win state with a time of 5:11.26.

Walker, as a freshman, captured what would be the first of two consecutive state titles in the 800m by running a time of 2:21.13. That followed her district-championship time of 2:31.70 and regional-championship time of 2:26.07.

Ryder Trull is pictured in the hospital. While he was unaware of what was going on, family, friends and people his family didn't even know were praying for his recovery.

Born Dec. 4, 1971, Rhonda was a loving daughter, devoted mother, proud Nana, and a constant source of strength for those blessed to know her. She was the proud and loving mother of three daughters, Meghan Miscally (husband Jared Johns); grandchildren, Kensley and Harper, Breianna Vanzant (husband Dean Shireman); and grandchildren, Tucker and Baylor, and Kirstyn Key. Whether she was cheering on her grandchildren, offering words of wisdom, or simply lending a listening ear, Rhonda was the heart of her family. She is now reunited in Heaven with her brother, Randy Alvarez, and her presence here on Earth will be missed beyond measure.

She is survived by her parents, Julia Alvarez and Owen Alvarez, who raised her with love, faith, and the importance of family—values that Rhonda carried with her every day of her life. She also leaves behind a host of nieces, nephews, extended family, and friends whose lives she touched deeply.

A service to honor and celebrate her life was held Tuesday, July 15, at Pine Level Baptist Church in Starke. A family visitation was followed by funeral services. The family is grateful for the continued love, prayers, and support during this time of loss. In honor of Rhonda, please carry forward the love, laughter, and strength she gave so freely. "Her wings were ready, but our hearts were not. Forever our Nana, our mother, our friend."

A memorial service to honor and celebrate his life was held Tuesday, July 15, at Pine Level Baptist Church in Starke. Family visitation was followed by the funeral service. for other Gainesville papers until moving to Ocala, where he met and befriended Wallace Stovall. Stovall, with his brother, published the Marion Free Press. Stovall, who eventually became publisher of the Tampa Tribune, persuaded the 16-year-old Matthews to become editor of the Foster Park Independent, a small paper printed in Lake Weir.

Matthews established the Dunnellon News in approximately 1880 after that town became a booming mining center after the discovery of phosphate. He wrote of his opposition to the state's convict-leasing system, but he rubbed many readers the wrong way in the process, including a wealthy citizen who leased prisoners and then sub-leased them to mine operators. The mining interests were powerful enough to hurt the newspaper's sales, so Matthews sold it and returned to Ocala.

When Weeks wrote to Matthews regarding the Telegraph, Matthews went to Starke, which he had never visited before. Though he grew up in Providence, a trip to Starke at that time would be by horse-drawn transportation over poor roads. Plus, there were no bridges spanning New River at that time, so it was not a trip people often made.

Matthews arrived in Starke in January 1893 and was surprised to find an old friend in Ben J. Farmer, who learned the newspaper trade alongside Matthews in Gainesville. Farmer, who was employed as a printer for Webb, begged Matthews to take him on as a partner in the purchase of the Telegraph. The two men struck a deal to buy the paper of $1,050 — $350 down, with the balance to be paid at the end of the year.

The Matthews-Farmer partnership continued until 1898,

Eugene L. Matthews (right) conducts an interview.

Sterling Moore (left) served as editor of the Telegraph when it was started by his father, William. The younger Moore bought the paper in 1885, took on I.C. Webb as a partner two years later and then sold his interest to Webb.

when Farmer sold out his interest and moved to find work farther south.

In the early 1900s, a hard-fought battle resulted in saloons being voted out of Starke. J.D. Crabb, proprietor of the Red Light Saloon on West Call Street, closed and left town in disgust. Matthews bought the vacated building from the estate of Dr. J.L. Gaskins for $800. That building still houses the Telegraph's printing press and archives today.

In 1933, Matthews' son, Eugene L. Matthews, a Columbia School of Journalism graduate, purchased the paper. It was not the best of times to operate a business. During the Great Depression, the new Telegraph owner bartered subscriptions in exchange for eggs, sweet potatoes and syrup. The younger Matthews was quoted in the Telegraph's centennial issue as saying,

"But, of course, we were glad to accept these items because many people were going hungry in those days."

The Telegraph earned numerous awards during the younger Matthews' ownership, but he was most proud of a community service award received in 1954, the result of the Telegraph's role in effecting changes for the better in Starke. The paper published photos of unsightly shacks and other eyesores and published stories on such topics as low teacher salaries and the scarcity of books in the public library.

Matthews created a questionnaire, "Do You Dare to Rate Your Town?" In a 1956 All Florida Weekly story, he said, "I took the questionnaire to a good cross-section of the community. My suspicions were confirmed by 86 men, women and alert, young people. In their opinion, Starke didn't make a passing grade. I ran the questionnaire and the opinions of this group right on our front page. The Telegraph started the ball rolling."

Some of the results included highway beautification projects by the local garden club, the renovation of the old USO building and a zoning ordinance to eliminate auto junkyards and other eyesores.

Community service awards "show the paper is fulfilling its reason for being," Matthews was quoted as saying in a 1958 Florida Press story.

Like his father, Matthews served as owner/publisher for 40 years. He sold the Telegraph to sons-in-law Bobby Ferguson and John Miller in 1973. Ferguson, who was married to Matthews' daughter Mary Agnes, passed away Feb. 9, 1993, at the age of 54. Miller, who is married to Matthews' daughter Anne, continues to serve as owner/publisher.

Information for this story was taken from a centennial special the Telegraph published on July 26, 1979.

championship at the preceding district meet as well.

Union, which finished third in the overall team standings, got first-place finishes from Jenkins in the 110m high hurdles and 300m intermediate hurdles with times of 14.59 and 39.66, respectively.

Brown is a state-champ lifter in 2005

Union won one state championship in 2005, which came courtesy of Jeremy Brown in weightlifting.

Brown won the Class 1A title in the 219-pound class, finishing 25 pounds ahead of Nease's Charlie Kirschman. He had a 370-pound bench press and a 310 clean and jerk for a 680 total. The clean-and-jerk total was a personal record.

The road to state began at the district (sub-sectional) meet, with Brown winning his class with a 680 total. His 375 bench press left him trailing Interlachen's Adrian Lumpkin by 5 pounds, but Brown then had a best clean and jerk of 305 (a personal record at that time), while Lumpkin's best clean and jerk was 295. That gave Brown a 5-pound advantage in the overall total.

Brown placed first again at the Section 4 meet with a 650 total (345 bench press, 305 clean and jerk).

Patrick Hampton (center) scored three touchdowns in the 1995 state-title game.

J.R. Jenkins (left) won both hurdle events for the Tigers at the 1995 state track-and-field meet.

amount of times, but I was still striking out. It kind of like showed me I still needed to put in the work, that I still had more stuff to do to get back to where I was."

Casey said Bryan was "extremely proud and grateful" to see Ryder playing baseball again. She, as you might expect from a mother, was a little nervous.

"I was more worried and concerned that he was already back out there," Casey said.

Of course, as time has gone on, it does Casey's heart good to see her son doing what he loves.

"Every time he goes out there, it's surreal and such a blessing," she said. "It's almost hard to believe that he's right back out there, doing great and not missing a beat."

Ryder was able to make appearances in nine games for the KHHS varsity team this past season. He got chances as a courtesy runner and scored two runs on the season. Ryder got one at-bat in a 10-0 win over Eagle's View on April 8, hitting a two-run single that enforced the mercy rule in the sixth inning. He also got to play some in right field in that game, recording a put out in the fifth inning.

This summer, Ryder has been a part of the Melrose 16U All-Stars team that won the state championship. He batted 4 for 9 with four RBI in three games. In a 10-0 win over DeBary — the team's first tournament game — Ryder batted 2 for 3 with three RBI.

Ryder pitched in relief in two of those games. He gave up one hit and one walk, while striking out one in 1.2 innings in the 10-0 win over DeBary and earned the save in the 5-3 championship win over Orange Park, allowing no hits and no walks, while striking out two in the final 1.2 innings.

"That was good," Ryder said of the team's state championship. "but that's been accomplished before. My next goal is to win the regional tournament and be the first team to make it to the World Series. That's going to be even bigger."

The regional tournament began this past Tuesday (July 15).

Ryder participated in spring football at KHHS and was the starting quarterback in the varsity team's spring jamboree. He won't continue to play, however, after being advised against doing so by his neurologist.

That was tough to hear because he likes Head Coach Steve Reynolds (who was his PE coach when he was in elementary school) and Assistant Coach Jakob Alvarez and was looking forward to being a part of their team.

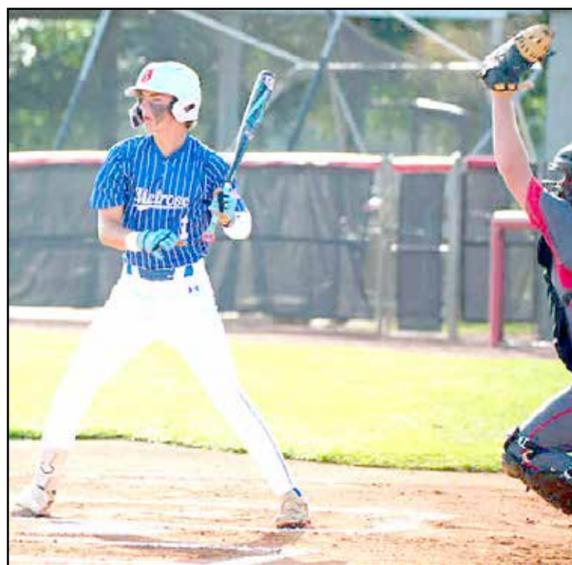

"I really wanted to play for them and my teammates, but my goal is to play some college baseball," Ryder said. "I feel like (playing football) was a huge risk of me getting hurt. I don't want that to happen."

Ryder not only wants to play college baseball. He'd love to get an opportunity in Major League Baseball. Ryder said he's got a good fastball, noting he's increased his velocity from 76 to 83, and he feels good about his curveball, changeup and cutter.

"I want to be on the mound," Ryder said. "I feel like I control the game and I'm what matters the most on how the game goes."

Life changes

Yes, it's back to life as usual for Ryder, but that's not to say that aspects of his life haven't changed. For one, he's learned to not always assume you have a tomorrow.

Ryder Trull doing what he loves — playing baseball. He couldn't get onto the diamond quick enough after his accident.

"Don't take a day for granted because tomorrow, something could change," he said.

The accident, of course, reinforced for Ryder and his family how important it is to appreciate those moments spent with family.

"I think it really just solidifies and tightens our views on family and how important it is to spend as much quality time as we can with each other," Casey said.

Another result of the accident is that Ryder has strengthened his relationship with God, accepting Jesus Christ as his savior and getting baptized.

"That's always a huge thing when any of your kids make that decision because, really, that's the most important one," Casey said.

Ryder said, "(The accident) kind of like opened my eyes a lot. If I was to have died in the hospital, I would've gone to Hell."

Finally, Ryder has come to embrace the positives in life and not dwell on the negatives. Once something negative happens, it becomes the past — something Ryder doesn't dwell on. He encourages others to do the same.

"Don't look back," Ryder said. "Look forward. Look for what is next to come."

"Have a goal in mind and try to achieve that goal. After you achieve that one, do another one. You just keep going forward."

For someone who's overcome an obstacle that's greater than most of us may ever face, that's certainly good advice.

BHS graduate Williams named to Preseason All-Big 12 Team

BY CLIFF SMELLEY
cliff@bctelegraph.com

Iowa State cornerback Jontez Williams, a 2022 Bradford High School graduate, was named to the Preseason All-Big 12 Team, which is voted on by media.

The redshirt junior is of three Iowa State defensive players on the team.

Williams led Iowa State and tied for third in the conference with four interceptions in 2024.

The 5-11, 200-pound defensive back is coming off a season in which he received second-team All-Big 12 and Associated Press All-Big 12 honors. His interceptions occurred in four consecutive games (20-0 win over Houston on Sept. 28, 43-21 win over Baylor on Oct. 5, 28-16 win over West Virginia on Oct. 12 and 38-35 win over UCF on Oct. 19), making him the first Iowa State player since Ronnie Osborne in 1982 to record at least one interception in four straight games.

In his first season as a starter, Williams also had 46 tackles, with a season-high 11 (six solo) in a 21-3 win over North Dakota on Aug. 31.

Another standout game for Williams was a six-tackle effort in the win over West Virginia.

Williams has 52 tackles (25 solo) in two seasons. He played in all 13 games his freshman year, making two starts.

The Cyclones had the first 10-win season in their 133-year history in 2024. They would go on to win an 11th game after defeating Miami 42-41 in the Pop-Tarts Bowl, finishing the season 11-3.

It was a good bowl game for Williams, who shared the team high in tackles with eight.

As of now, Williams and the Cyclones are scheduled to appear on national television four times in 2025: Aug. 23 Aer Lingus College Football Classic vs. Kansas State in Dublin, Ireland, at noon on ESPN, Aug. 30 vs. South Dakota at 3:30 p.m. on Fox, Sept. 6 vs. Iowa at noon on Fox and Sept. 13 vs. Arkansas State at 4 p.m. on ESPN 2.

Iowa State's Oct. 4 game at Cincinnati will feature two former Tornadoes. Manny Covey, a 2023 BHS graduate, is a redshirt sophomore running back for Cincinnati.
